My essay is about Love of Shabari for her Lord Rama

Shabari had a very loving heart. She came to the king of the village and asked the king if she could stay in his village as she knew that one day Lord Rama will pass through the village during his fourteen years of exile with his brother Lakshmana and his wife, Sita. The king of that village let her stay there as she was very kind and loving. Shabari didn't know when her Lord will come and visit her village, but her love was so pure for her God that all she wanted to do was to think of her Lord and his visit to her village so she can meet him one day. From that day Shabari had no other desire than the desire to meet her God and to touch his feet like I touch Lord Rama's and Sita's feet when I go to temple with my mommy.

Shabari's loved God Rama so much like I love my God and I hope one day I can meet Lord Rama and take his blessing's like Shabari desires as I think he loves kids.

Shabari spend all her time preparing for the visit of Rama to her village, so she cleaned the paths removed rocks and she made trails so Lord Rama, is not lost during his visit to her village and has no difficulty finding her village. She walked all around the path of the village and removed hanging bushes from the trees so it does not hurt Lord Rama. She collected good fruits from the trees and plants every day as she did not know when Lord Rama will come to meet her just like I keep my room and study clean as I know that one day Lord Rama will visit us in my home when he comes to Austin.

Shabari tasted every fruit to be sure it tasted as sweet as her love for her God. She wanted her God to have the best fruit. Like my mommy during festivals servers food to God, she makes my favorite food and first she have Lord Rama and Krishna have it and then we eat as Prasad, and guess what it tastes so yummy. Shabari worked very hard to smooth the surface of all stones that was on the side of the tracks so Lord Rama, Sita and Lakshmana can sit on those stones and rest when they are tired of walking.

Shabari's heart and her mind became, 'Rama's heart', this means when we think of God as she did for her Lord our heart and mind belongs to him.

So what Shabari did for her God we all can do to get his love, like we kids do to get love from our parents, all God wants is our love and only love.
